Dear Sir

Thank you for your letter sent by email on 29 November 2004.

Please could you state precisely which items on the Web at <http://www.ryanair.org.uk> are illegal. If our legal advice concurs with yours, we will, of course, immediately take steps to rectify any illegal content.

We have never had any intention of breaking the law, nor any intention of gaining financially from the use of either the domain name or the Web site. Nor has there been any attempt to deceive, as might be inferred from the clear statement "This is not the official Ryanair Web site." at the top of every page.

If the site has to shut down, we obviously cannot make the same promises on behalf of future owners of the domain name, but we hope that this will not happen.

Thank you very much for your advice.

Yours faithfully

Ryanair Campaign
